Manuka Honey Goodness

We specialise in the science of honey and skin. Youthful skin is worth preserving and Manuka Honey knows how. The ancient Egyptians used honey to embalm their Kings. Honey prevents bacteria eating away the tissue and fights infection while preserving the cells in a state of suspension.

Manuka Honey is unique and maintains all its active properties when blended with the right amount of ingredients.

Use it today to rescue your skin.

Head Lice Treatment

Back to school and so are the head lice? Alternative solution with remarkable results—an effective treatment for decades.

Lice are a natural, human parasite, which use humans as their host, to grow and breed. Head lice are common in children at Kindergartens and school ages. They are easily transferred from one child to another.

Lice are more tolerant toward chemicals commonly used in most treatment, making them less effective, and we are more aware of the dangers of using synthetic chemicals.

Lice don't tolerate Manuka tea tree (this species of tea tree from New Zealand, is more effective with a pleasant smell, uncommon to many other tea trees) Manuka tea tree oil is from nature and not altered in any way. Manuka Oil is also anti-bacterial helping to prevent any secondary infections.

Use:

Add 3 drops of 100% pure NZ Manuka Oil to a normal size application of hair shampoo. Massage over scalp; leave in for 10 mins before rinsing. Repeat daily till clear.

Maintenance:

- Place 5-6 drops of 100% pure NZ Manuka Oil into 250mls of hair shampoo. Use daily.
- A few drops of 100% pure NZ Manuka Oil into the washing machine for sheets, pillowcases and other infested garments will assist to alleviate cross lice infestation.

Pets and summer days in the dust, bring summer fleas and skin irritation.

Solution: Fill a 150mls spray bottle with boiled water, cool then add 8 drops of NZ Manuka Oil. Shake well and spray over coat. Avoid eye area. Most effective after a bath and the coat is dry. 8 Drops of Pure NZ Manuka Oil in dog's bath can assist and minimise infestation and irritation. (Avoid if you have allergies to Tea Tree) (More beneficial treatments on page 2)

Couprose Skin Conditions—We Can Help You

Because the dry air in winter is so fatiguing on the skin, this condition often appears worse in winter, but the summer can cause soreness and irritation.

Couprose—is a flushing of the skin, leaving broken capillaries and congested, broken, blood vessels visible through the skin's surface and lacks circulation. This can be an inherited condition due to the thin walls of the capillaries bursting under stressed conditions.

Example: Eating spicy, hot foods such as curries and chilies or drinking alcohol. Exposure to excessive hot or cold conditions—hot showers or long hot baths, moving from warm indoors to cold outdoors, outdoor sports, etc. Often this skin type is sensitive and delicate. The CResults Deluxe skin regime is ideal, providing a gentle exfoliant to stimulate circulation and defuse congested blood at the end of the capillaries. The Manuka Honey Facial Mask calms and soothes the condition leaving the skin soft and moist. The Hydrating Renewal Cream adds moisture and suppleness to the skin improving the skin's texture and feel. But most importantly, the skin's appearance is improved, soft, cool and less red.

Speak to a CResults Consultant today for good advice.

Love Summer But Do You Hate What It Does To Your Skin?

Summer dehydrates and damages skin cells, often permanently. Pigmentation changes and long term melanin accumulates in the form of moles and crusted skin. This induces wrinkles and creases that are difficult to get rid of. Not a good look!

If you've had a great summer in the sun, then you have to do a lot of mending to the damaged cells to try and reverse the aging process.

A major part of aging is, the stretching and dehydration of the collagen under your skin, that supports the shape and firmness, when constantly exposed to UV. Newly forming cells are also damaged when they reach the surface, the quality, texture and firmness of the cells are degraded.

Manuka Honey products not only repair and rescue your skin from the extraordinary damage, they rejuvenate and replenish the skin to its true natural health and behaviour.
